ings, I feel that I should disgrace myself were! I to sing hallelujahs to the Union! Sir, such is not the course of rectifude or honer! It becomes not a brave man when he is assailed to talk of friendship! It becomes not an honorable man when he is slandered and his character assailed, to use the flattering language of friendship and respect—Great sensation.) He knows little, sir, of the history of the human heart, or the history of agitations who thinks that they can be allayed by concession. In those, States where bold ground was taken at the onset, the spirit of finaticism has been crushed. Such was the case in New Hampshire. But wherever it has been tampered with; that increased, as in Massachusetts, till at last that State sends here this session a petition virtually for a dissolution of the Union. Nor will it stop with this one petition on this subject; for since it has been received and referred, these petitions will multiply and abound upon our table. The spirit is going through the length and breadth of the land, that seeks our and its destruction. Sir, if my counsel had been followed, we of the south would not have opened our mouths on this subject again in this Hall. We would have taken a different course But let it not be supposed that we would have no feeling on the matter. There is, even now, sir, a deep bitter feeling, in many of the southern States, of hostility to this Union, as they mark the course of events in this Hall. And the period may soon come, when it may be necessary for us to do as our fathers did before us—BREAK THIS UNION, which brings is nothing but herrarsing insult and injury! Sir, it has been said that dissatisfaction exists at the north-or, this subject; let me say that that dissatisfaction will be equally met at any time by a bold and firm front at the south! (Great sensation). Sir, as soon as a petition reaches this Hall, the right of petition ceases and parliamentury rights begin. But I believe, sir, that this movement will continue to go on, and that no course you can take Nominations.-The Senate on Thursday con firmed the nomination of Dabney S. Carr, Minister of the United States at Constantinople. Also, of Mr. Rencher, Minister to Portugal, and Benjamin Green, Secretary of Legation to Mexico.

The nomination of Mr. Proffitt was rejected .-Mr. P. is now at Rio Janeiro, but had not, at the last accounts, been presented to the Emperor as the successor of Mr. Hunter, who has long been the Minister of the United States at that Court.

MONEY MARKET.

Friday, Jan. 12-6 P.M. Stocks are very fluctuating; Long Island down 3 per cent; Patterson 1; Harlem 4; North American Trust 1; Mohawk 1; New Jersey 1; Stonington 1; Kentucky 1 Illinois 4; Norwich & Canton firm at previous prices. Th sales were to a moderate extent, and the advance of yester day was with difficulty sustained. Ohio 6's left off at yes terday's quotations.

vements in the stock market indicate some very important results. The speculations in several of the fancy descriptions have been so extensive, and prices have reached so elevated a point, that a few of the largest ope rators have monopolized the whole in the market, and are compelled to hold on, or run prices down for the purpose of making deliveries of former sales. Long Island Rail ad stock is at present in this situation. There are about fiteen or twenty individuals who held nearly all this stock and the only sales made are to each other for the purpose of making good time operations. They have made such a bubble of the stock, that private individuals cannot be found to take hold of it. In all the movements in the stock market the object is to induce thosewho have allittle money to interest themselves in the speculations, which enables the experienced brokers to absorb all this floating capital and leave the victims towaldle out of the street the bestway their legs will carry them. The course of a very extensive corner in a worthless stock invariably throws the whole into the hands of a few, and the movements are then carried on between these individuals, who fleece each other as much as possible.

The Committee of Ways and Means in the Legislature of Alabama, have reported a revenue bil', which, if adopted would produce annual receipts from taxation amounting to about $350,000. It provides that all the lands in the State be divided into four classes. The first to be valued $16 per acre, the second at $10, the third at $4, and the fourth at $1 25, on which a tax of $5 cents on every $100 value shall be paid. From lots and buildings, 30 cents on one dollar per head, under ten, twenty-five cents. Her State debt still weighs heavily on the people, but the measures adopted by the Government will quickly ease the burden.

The debts due from our State governments will never be liquidated. Our most wealthy States find it difficult to mee the annual interest. A prompt payment of the annual dividends is as much as the most prosperous commonwealth will ever be able to pay. This is all that is wanted Thousands have made these stocks an investment, and sl they want is the interest. This they look for, and eventually will receive in full. The stock will o course be continually changing hands, the credit tors will change from year to year, but the indebtedness will never be removed from the States. Those that have for years been unable to pay the most trifling portion of the interest due, must receive some other aid than what they have within themselves, to take so great a step as the payment of the principal.

A resolution has been introduced in the Legislature of Pennsylvania providing for the State debt. After stating that the public debt amounted to nearly $40,000,000, a fact that the public debt amounted to nearly $40,000,000, a fact that many are too well acquainted with, the resolution proceeds to state that the means of payment should be drawn from sources the least burdensome, and recommends the sale of the public improvements of the State and the appropriation by Congress of so much of the public lands of the United States, or the proceeds thereof, to Pennsylvania, as would extinguish the State debt, and free the record from taxation. The least the resolution free the people from taxation. The last two resolutions are so rich and important, that we will not abridge them:

are so rich and important, that we will not abridge them: Resolved, That we recommend to our senators, &c., in Congress, to use their exertions to procure the passage of a law authorising the issue of $200,000,000 of stock to be distributed amongst the several States, in proportion to their federal population, and to be payable by the United States out of the proceeds of the sale of the public lands, which lands shall be pledged for the redemption of stock so issued.

which lands shall be pledged for the redemption of stock so issued.

Resolved, That should the proceeds of the sales of the public lands be insufficient for the redemption of the stock in a reasonable time, that ways and means should thus be raised by Congress, by levying such additional duties on foreign goods as may be necessary.

This is providing resources with a vengeance. Our

They are looked to for protection, for revenue, and now we have a new benefit proposed to be derived from this important act, the payment of the State debts. Desperate diseases require desperate remedies, and the gentleman that introduced the above resolution into the Legislature of Pennsylvania, must be one of those modern financial people of that State have the ability to meet the interest on their enormous debt, independent of any extraneous aid, and their representatives in the Legislature have only to boldly meet the issue, and their constituents will abide the consequences. The sale of their public works would relieve them of a portion of the debt, end the act would benefit the people by a cheaper use of their facilities, for it is a settled maxim, that individual or company enter-prise outstrips that of governments. The result would be cheaper rates of transportation; consequently, by a dis. posal of the internal improvements, the population would be doubly benefitted. The famount of the debt left after this move would rest at a point, that the State could pro. vide interest for, without severe taxation. That debt would be permanent, and would be just burdensome
